Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Ihc Titan Oil Tractors The American farmer of today is face to face with the power problem. It has been slowly developing in the last few years and recent conditions have brought it more forcibly to the front. Farm power is usually the horse and in the past it has proved a very satisfactory power. Slowly during the last few years, but more rapidly within the past year, the farm work has increased more in volume than horses have in numbers. This, together with the large number of horses(78, 799 in five months in 1914 alone) that are now being shipped out of the country, has stimulated the price of horseflesh far above the actual value that can be obtained from it on farm work. The maintenance of horses has also increased enormously. Feed has gone up and is becoming more scarce in many localities, and horses must be fed every day in the year. Horses and their feed require large buildings for housing and protection. Building operations are not only expensive, but the buildings...
