Reviews

It is straightforward in go through easier to recognize. I actually have study and that i am sure that i will going to study yet again again down the road. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Link, October, 1917, Vol. 5: The Official Publication, the Service Men s Christian League (Under the Direction of the General Commission on Chaplains) Marel Brown (My Very Favorite, page 3) in private life is Mrs. Alex B. Brown of Atlanta, Georgia. She has spent more than twenty years in various places of church and civic leadership, and since 1924 has edited a page in The Christian Index. She is active in Georgia Federated Club work, has served a two-year term as State Poetry chairman and is now Fine Arts chairman. Her husband is straight from Aberdeen, Scotland, and still has a little of his Scots brogue. Their special hobby is their few acres of woods and springs and streams, just eight miles from their apartment in town. They have a little cabin, built of lumber sawed from their own trees, and they call it The Wee Hoose at Hielands. Marel Brown has two books published, Red Hills and Hearth Fire. We are looking forward to more of her stories. Mayo Cornell (Notes to Service Men and Women, inside front cover) has been with The Link since its inception, has consistently traveled every State in the Union for over sixteen years and has served many years as a news hound and columnist, writes some fiction and is currently engaged in the preparation of a book at some unknown hideaway. Stanley G. Grayovski (Back Door to Bataan, page 29) has been contributing those interesting puzzle quizzes to The Link for the past several months. A veteran with five and one-half years Army service, he is now married to a newspaper feature writer from North Carolina and...
