I am sorry to say that my dear wife is still such a sufferer from her accident that we must be detained here several weeks longer. I must, therefore, forego the pleasure of being with you on the 24th instant. If you can do no better you may eke out my little speech by reading here and there from the new edition of my brochure on Disarmament, a copy of which I send you herewith. Your faithful friend, George Dana Boardman. K. Burt Beckwith wrote: Harvard University, Cambridge, November 22, 1898. You were very kind to invite me to meet with you on this anniversary, and I should much like to be with you, for I very strongly sympathize...
