Census, in obtaining data to show the classification of labor employed, the average term of employment, the various rates of wages per week, and the average number of men, women, and children, respectively, employed at each rate in the various classes, has taken a step in advance, which will be shown in detail in final reports, and appreciated by students of these data. CITY OF SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS. The act of Congress approved March 1, 1889, providing for the Eleventh Census, directs the Superintendent of Census to investigate and ascertain the statistics of the manufacturing industries of the country. By virtue of the authority conferred by section 18 of the said act, the collection of statistics of all establishments of productive industry located in certain cities and towns was withdrawn from enumerators and assigned to special agents, who were appointed and entered upon their duties as soon after the completion of the work assigned the general enumerators as was practicable. The instructions issued by this office to enumerators and special agents relating to the collection of statistics of manufactures were as follows: It shall be their duty personally to visit every establishment of productive industry in their respective districts (except as noted and to obtain the required information in the case of each manufacturing establishment. The term establishment of productive industry must be understood in its broadest sense to embrace not only mills and factories but also the operation of all small establishments and the mechanical trades....
